

A dramatic illustration of Jesus Christ standing in the stern of a wooden boat, facing a group of disciples on a turbulent sea. The sky is filled with dark, heavy clouds, but a bright light breaks through, creating rays of light that illuminate the scene. The water is dark and choppy, with white foam from the waves crashing against the boat. Jesus is wearing a long, white robe and has a beard. The disciples are dressed in simple, earthy-toned robes and are looking towards Jesus with various expressions of concern and faith. The overall mood is one of divine presence amidst a storm.
